(54) Title: A FLEXIBLE STICK AND A CONTAINER THEREFORE

(57) Abstract: The invention relates to a bendable stick, and a container for the stick provided with a straitening arrangement of the bent stick. The stick according to the invention could be used for many articles in a variety of configurations, the stick is made of a flexible material preferably in combination with a compact container, wherein the stick is provided with a dividable end and a retention end, for a candy or spoon or the like items, the major portion of the stick being dividable into two elongated halves by insertion into a compact container or holder, a separation device, causing separation of the elongated halves, may be provided at the bottom of the container or holder and bending thereof of at least 180 degrees during the insertion resulting from contact with inner walls of the container or holder, the stick being retained in the divided and bent configuration. The compact container or holder being further provided with a reunification device.
